COLUMBIA, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 24, 1919.

NUMBER 48

A Well-Known Citizen Dies.

Last Sunday morning fifteen minutes before 1 o'clock, Mr. Scott Montgomery, who had been a resident of Columbia for many years, answered the death call and passed over the river. Had he lived until the 23rd of this month he would have been seventy years old.

He was a native of Adair county, having been born and reared near Columbia. He was a quiet, unassuming man, going about his business affairs in a systematic way. He was saving and accumulated quite an estate.

Early in life he made a profession of his faith in Christ and united with the Zion Baptist Church, living a consistent member until his death.

In all his dealings he was strictly an honorable man, meeting his obligations promptly. We doubt if he owed a dollar when he was called hence.

He leaves a wife and one daughter, Miss Mae, and a little grandson, Marshall Montgomery. He also leaves four sisters. He had a large number of relatives and many were here to attend the funeral.

The funeral was held in the Baptist church, this city, Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. R. V. Bennett, of the Methodist Church. The minister's oration was exceedingly comforting and it was plainly seen, while he was delivering it, that many in the congregation were filled with emotion.

The interment was in the city cemetery. There were a number of beautiful floral designs.

May God comfort and care for the widow, the daughter and grandson is the wish of the writer.

A Card.

We desire to extend our most grateful thanks to all those who were with us in the sickness, ending in death, of our dear husband and father. In such trying hours, comforting words and kind acts brought consolation.

Mrs. Latitia Montgomery.
Miss Mae Montgomery.

A series of meetings will begin next Sunday, Sept. 28, at the Christian Church. Charles E. Powell is the evangelist. We invite most cordially those who will help in song service to come in the choir. There will be chorals for large choruses. A cordial invitation is given to everybody who can to attend the meetings.

Z. T. Williams.

Mr. L. P. Long, who lives near Rowena, one of Russell county's substantial citizens, who was here last week, is thinking of locating in Columbia. He will be here some time this week with the view of buying a home if one can be found to suit him. He and his family would be valuable acquisitions.

Don't miss the big auction sale of mules at Jamestown next Saturday. There will be a lot of extra good pairs of yearlings and two year old closely mated, sold for the high dollar. Sale opens at 1 o'clock p. m.

S. M. Burdette.

Mr. W. I. Ingram has purchased the house and lot now occupied by Mr. L. E. Bradley, from Walter Sullivan. Consideration, $600. Mr. Bradley will continue to reside in the property. It is in the Mulligan addition.

Earl, a little son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myers, fell and broke one of his arms last Sunday. Dr. O. P. Miller, assisted by Dr. Flowers, reduced the fracture.

Read the page "ad" in this issue of valuable Taylor county farms for sale. They are located in good communities.

Mr. J. B. White, brother of Mr. Jesse White, this place, sold his farm lying near Miami, Green County, to Jas. A. McMahan, of Greensburg, for $2500. The farm contains fifty two acres. Mr. White will give possession and will remove to Campbellsville.

See the work of the avenger who appears in the "Riders of the Purple Sage." Here the 30th.

Mrs. Jo Knifley is now teaching in the Graded School. She is very competent.

You have only one month to give in your list. Do it now.

Announcement.

Announcements of the marriage of Miss Carmen Belcher, Greenville, Ky., daughter of a prominent Attorney, to Mr. Fred P. Hill, of Columbia, were received here last Friday night. The ceremony was performed in Cincinnati, Ohio, Wednesday afternoon, September 17th, 1919, at 4 o'clock. They will be at home, this city, after October 1st.

The bride will not be met by strangers, as she was a teacher in the public schools here for two years, and became well acquainted. She is a young woman of many charming graces, and will be greeted by her many friends in a most cordial manner.

The groom is well-known throughout Adair county, having been a druggist in Columbia for a number of years, his courteous manners winning him many personal friends.

Those who know him best are truly glad that he has found the companion of his choice, and trust that they may go hand in hand down the stream of Time, nothing occurring to mar the happiness that they are now enjoying.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill, upon their arrival in Columbia, will stop at the home of Mrs. Bettie Butler where rooms have been engaged, taking their meals at the Jeffries Hotel. Later they will go to housekeeping in the brick residence, which will be remodeled, located next to the home of Mrs. Rena Pauli.

Royse-Allison.

Last Friday afternoon Miss Vista Royse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Royse, and Mr. Sandridge Allison drove to the residence of Eld. Z. T. Williams where they were united in marriage. Immediately after the ceremony the couple drove to the home of the groom, a few miles east of Columbia.

The bride and groom are both teachers and are most excellent young people, a couple who have many friends, who wish them lasting happiness and prosperity.

We most cordially solicit your inspection of our Millinery department, which we have added on our Mezzanine floor. Ladies and children's hats at prices that please.

Russell & Co.

At the sale of the realty, which was owned by the late Nathan Murrell, last Saturday, the home place brought $3,100, and was purchased by James N. Murrell; the timber was purchased by Young & Sandusky for $5,600. Two hundred acres of unimproved land was bought by Hughes & Coffey, Jas. Redmon and Sam Pierce. It brought $3,300. Total amount of sale, $16,900.

I am now running a closed Dodge Car between Columbia and Campbellsville. Safe and reliable Chaffeur, and close attention paid to the traveling public. I want your business and I guarantee satisfaction. See me for prices.

44-3t. Stanley Epperson.

Rev. B. T. Watson will reach home in time to fill his pulpit at the Presbyterian church the second Sunday in October. He and Mrs. Watson are having a delightful trip. They have visited many points of interest, and have also been with their son, Leuit. Watson and family, New York, and their son, Thomas Tarlton and family, who are in Akron, Ohio.

One hundred acres of good land for rent. There is a dwelling on it.

Mr. John N. Conover and Mr. B. E. Rowe went to Louisville last week and put their tobacco on the market. They had five or six hogheads each.

D. E. Phelps shipped a car load of hogs and cattle to Louisville last Thursday. He paid from 12 to 15 cents for the hogs and 4 to 8 cents for the cattle.

The special show, "Riders of the Purple Sage," is a good one. At Paramount Sept. 30th.

Born, to the wife of Clarence Marshall, on the night of the 16th, a daughter. It did not live and was buried on the 17th.

Fire will be started at the brick kiln next Thursday morning.

For the Farmers.

Mr. J. W. Evans, who is now visiting in Adair, left the county and took up his residence in the West twenty-eight years ago. Since his arrival here he has gone over a large portion of Adair county, and he says he was perfectly astonished at the improvements that have been made.

The lands have been doctored and on many farms where log cabins and and frame shacks stood when he left, new and attractive residences have taken their places. Thrift makes valuable farms, he says, and if the agriculturist of Adair will keep their lands clean, farms that are now regarded as poor will soon become valuable, and if a buyer should come along the farmer would have no trouble in selling for good money. He also says that the farmers of Adair County do not realize what a good country they are living in. Mr. Evans lives in Corral County, Mo., where everything is on the go, lands high, and the production great, and the same results will follow in Adair county if the farmers continue to keep up the spirit of improvement. If there is a complaint about the land here, the soil, Mr. Evans says, is not the trouble. It is the men who are not educated to properly cultivate it. "I see," says Mr. Evans "the making of as good farms here as there are in Missouri."

S. M. Burdette will sell at auction twenty-five, yearling and two year old mules at Jamestown, Ky., on Saturday Sept 27, sale begins promptly at 1 o'clock p. m.

Enjoyable Social.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Conover last Wednesday night, was one of the most enjoyable occasions of the season. Party given in honor of Mr. Chester Sealf, of Louisville, a soldier from over sea. There were between 50 and 75 young people out, every one being glad to see Chester. Every one sorry when the hour came to say good night.

Mr. T. C. Davidson, United States Commissioner, had the following parties before him last week: Parker Garnett, of color, charged with selling liquor, dismissed. Jo Z. Collins, white, same charge, dismissed. William C. Hill failing to register, dismissed. Joseph Aaron, selling liquor, held to await the action of a Federal grand jury. Charles F. Richards, failing to register, held over, but the Commissioner thinks that the charge will later be dismissed.

The Scott Montgomery sale has been called off.

A son of Mr. J. W. Barnes, who lives at Tolia, and a Miss Jones were married week before last. The father of the young man tells us that the way the couple proceeded was somewhat out of the ordinary. He said he and his son were helping with a thrasher. The morning of the day of the marriage the son said to his father, "I will not go with the thrasher to-day, I am going to Columbia." "I thought nothing of the statement," said his father, "and I went to the thrasher." "My son did not get back until the night of the second day. He came in and retired, and I thought nothing about his action. This was early in the week, and he continued to work, and remained at home. Thursday night after we returned home he announced he was married. My wife and neither of my other children knew a thing about the affair."

The Trico Oil Company.

This is a company organized for the express purpose of developing oil in Adair county. Mr. D. P. Weeks, President of the company, has been an unusually successful operator in Lincoln and other counties.

Two Financiers from Okla., men, who have promoted several million dollar companies in Texas, etc., who are strongly recommended by the Governor of Texas, have decided to leave Texas, on account of the short life of wells, and operate in Kentucky. The Trico Company is exceedingly fortunate in having joined forces with these two gentlemen, who are now placing our stock among Northern and Eastern investors.

If you live in Adair county you owe it to yourself and to your county to back this organization by buying stock liberally. As an investment, it has something better than any other organization. The par value of stock $1.00 per share. A representative will be here soon.

Will Not Return.

Rev. S. G. Shelley, Presiding Elder, preached at the Methodist church last Sunday night. It was a sacramental service, the last one to be held in the Columbia district this Conference year. Rev. Shelley has done a great work during the four years he has presided over the district and he will deliver a most gratifying report to Conference. Columbia, Adair county and the district are sorry to lose him and his most excellent companion, as under the rulings he can not remain in one district longer than four years. We feel sure that on account of his ability, his untiring energy for the Master's cause, he will be given a desirable location.

More About the Moonshine Shooting.

We have gathered the following information in regard to the shooting of Fred Austin, the moonshiner, in Russell County, last week: Charley Winfrey, the Deputy United States Marshal and Clay Sullivan, the Sheriff of the County, reached the still unobserved, and demanded of Austin to surrender. Instead of so doing he grabbed Winfrey and fight ensued. He held an automatic shot gun in his left hand and with his right he was pounding the Marshal. Winfrey hallowed to Sheriff Sullivan, "shoot him". The Sheriff seeing that he was about to finish the Marshal, fired, shooting Austin, but he did not fall and the second and third shot was fired before he was brought down. It was then discovered that he was dangerously wounded and that some of his shots passed through Winfrey's clothing.

After consultation it was decided to convey Austin to a hospital in Somerset.

AUSTIN DEAD.

Since writing the above we learn that the wounded man died in the hospital at Somerset last Tuesday. His remains were conveyed to Russell County for burial. Mr. Sullivan, the sheriff of the County, who did the shooting was seen by a Columbian in Russell Springs Tuesday night. He said that he was very sorry that Austin died, but at the time he was shot he was endeavoring to kill Winfrey, the revenue officer, and that he felt that he had only done his duty as an officer.

If you want a choice pair of yearlings or two year old mules at your own price attend S. M. Burdette's auction sale at Jamestown next Saturday Sept. 27.

Mr. S. E. Allen sold his farm, lying on Pettisfork, four miles South of Columbia, last Thursday, to Mr. C. C. Stephens. Consideration $8,750. In the boundary there are about one hundred acres. It is a good productive farm, but we consider that it was sold well. Mr. Stephens already owned a farm adjoining the Allen tract, and that was an inducement for him to buy. The transfer was made the day of the sale, and Mr. Stephens will be given possession soon.

I am receiving new goods this week. See my line. Men's odd coats and overcoats also ladies and men's underwear.

Near Fair Ground.

Sam Burdette bought fifty-odd high class mules in the Blue Grass section last week. They were brought to Columbia, and about one-half of them were sold in Burkesville last Saturday and the other half will be put on the market at Jamestown next Saturday.

If you want to know about the rich and attractive lands in the Prairie of Mississippi, don't wait for a convenient time, but write for booklet giving information at once, Strong & Harris, West Point, Miss.

Mark Harmon, charged with a breach of the peace, in Russell Circuit Court, was arrested by the Sheriff Cortez Sanders, near Tarter, this county, and last Wednesday he conveyed him to Jamestown and delivered him to the authorities.

We have a special sale this week on Ladies' Vellie Waists, handsomely trimmed in embroidery and lace. Sizes 38 to 48. Special at $1.39.

Russell & Co.

Mr. Alex. McFarland by authority invested in him by the Grand Master of Odd-Fellowship in Kentucky, was here last Tuesday and packed the paraphernalia belonging to Columbia Lodge, No. 230 which became defunct about two years ago, and shipped same to the Grand Lodge. Burkesville Lodge was in the same condition and its Lodge effects were also shipped to the Grand Lodge.

Frightful Accident.

Last Thursday afternoon Mrs. J. P. Hutchinson got in her car and drove to the Chewning home, on Greensburg street, where she formerly lived. Upon leaving the premises she lost control of the car and it ran onto a bank close to the dwelling. It upset catching Mrs. Hutchinson underneath. Several women lifted the car sufficient to get Mrs. Hutchinson out. Dr. Russell, who was called, found that she was not badly hurt, only a few bruises. The top of the machine was torn off and it was otherwise damaged. It was very fortunate that Mrs. Hutchinson escaped with slight injuries.

The prairie of Mississippi is rich, healthy and attractive. We want good farmers from your section to share in the great development of this country, now in its infancy. Hundreds of Kentuckians from nearly every part of that state have already bought farms in this prairie and not a one dissatisfied. Lands have already advanced to an appreciable degree but thousands of acres of as fine land as you ever saw is yet on the market at less than half their value. This country offers you the opportunity of your life if you really want a fine farm. The sooner you buy the less it will cost and the larger your profits. Write Strong & Harris for Booklet, West Point, Miss.

Married at Jamestown.

Last Wednesday Miss Veleria Turner daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Turner, who live near Montpelier, and Mr. J. Campbell, a discharged soldier, who had been in the regular army for twenty years, were married in Jamestown, where the groom's mother resides. Mr. Campbell reached here from Fort Terry, New York, Tuesday night and Wednesday his intended bride met him at the hotel, and with a friend or two journeyed to Jamestown where as above stated the rites were solemnized. It is our understanding that the couple will reside in New York.

Here is hoping that happiness will attend them all through life.

No. 33.

THE HARPES.

When the Harpes arrived, near the Big Barren river, they murdered two men, whose names are not now remembered, and securing a canoe, they went down that river to a point, known in ancient times as the Yellow Banks. In this neighborhood, they hid themselves for a while, and in the neighborhood of the present city of Henderson, they erected a cabin. After hiding their money and such things as they had, which were not convenient to be carried, under a cliff, they went over into Tennessee, into the country then inhabited by the Chickasaw Indians. The wives of the Harpes were left behind, when they broke jail, at Danville, but after the lapse of some time and after the Harpes had taken their departure for the Chickasaw Indian country, the women made their way through the country to the cabin, which the Harpes had built near Henderson. In what way the women learned the whereabouts of the cabin, or in what direction their husbands had gone from Danville, is not now remembered or known. It seems probable that a man, whose name was Tully, and who during the next year was himself slain by the Harpes, was in some way connected with the women finding their way to the cabin. Tully, however, lived in the Stockton Valley, in Clinton county, or at least lived there at the time he was killed, but, in a chronicle of some portion of the history of the Harpes, which was written by Col. Daniel Trabue, he relates that Tully was acquainted with the wives of the Harpes, and he attributes the knowledge of the Harpes, as to the whereabouts of the women, during the next year, to the fact that Tully had given them information upon that subject. Probably at the time of his murder.

The Harpes made their way from the country of the Chickasaw Indians to Stone river, in Tennessee, and thence to Knoxville, Tennessee. At Knoxville they murdered a man, whose name was Ballard, and sank his body in the Clinch river, by cutting it open and filling it with stones, which would cause it to sink. Thereafter, leaving Knoxville, they started to return to Kentucky across the Cumberland mountains, and in a short distance from Knoxville, they encountered a young man, who was the son of one Chesley Coffey. Young Coffey was horse back and was on a mission to procure a fiddle. The Harpes slew him and smeared his brains upon a tree, with the pretense, that young Coffey's horse had run against the tree and dashed out his brains as the cause of his death.

On their way from Knoxville to the Kentucky line, they overtook upon the road two brothers, Robert Brassel and James Brassel. Robert was on horseback and unarmed, but James was upon foot and armed with a gun. The Harpes pretending to be in a great hurry, when they overtook the Brassels, said to them: "Gentlemen, what is the news?" one or the other of the Brassels replied: "I suppose you have heard of the murder of Ballard and Coffey," and proceeded to relate the particulars. The Harpes replied, "Yes, we are in pursuit of the murderers, and we suspect that you are the men, who committed these murders. We have more men behind, and you must stop until they come up." Big Harpe took James Brassel's gun from him and set it by a tree, took out a large string and ordered him to hold his hands, together, that he might tie him. Robert Brassel said to his brother: "Don't be tied. Little Harpe then threatened Robert Brassel with instant death, if he resisted. Robert, suspecting the truth and that the Harpes were the murderers of Ballard and Coffey, sprang from his horse and attempted to secure his brother's gun, but the Harpes interfered and prevented him. He ran off and left Big Harpe tying his brother, James. Little Harpe pursued Robert Brassel and attempted to shoot him, but he escaped, leaving his brother and his horse behind. After some distance, he met a party of six men and a woman. One of the men bore the name of Dale, and had a gun with him. Robert Brassel tried to persuade the company to return with him to the place, where he had left his brother. When they returned to that place, a short distance from the road, in the woods, they found the lifeless body of James Brassel, mutilated, and his gun broken in pieces. The Harpes had gone from the place, but their tracks indicated, that, they had gone in the direction of Knoxville, from which direction, they were coming, when they overtook the Brassels. The men went on from the place of the murder of James Brassel toward Knoxville, but after a few miles, they met the Harpes upon the road, the Big Harpe riding a large gray horse. The men were convinced, that the Harpes were the murderers, but were afraid to molest them, as they were wholly unarmed, except for the rifle which Dale had. The Harpes were heavily loaded with clothing and provisions, and passed the party, in silence, but, scowling at them. They had hid their luggage, somewhere near the road, before meeting the Brassels, but after they had killed James Brassel and Robert Brassel had escaped, they went back for their effects. Robert Brassel complained bitterly of the conduct of the men with him, because of their refusal to attack the Harpes, but the men were frightened and glad to escape them. This murder was committed, somewhere upon the Cumberland Mountains, between Knoxville and the Stockton Valley, in Clinton county, Kentucky. The Harpes were evidently intending to avoid the Wilderness road, and the counties of central Kentucky, on account of the trouble, in which they had been engaged during the year before and their purpose was to enter Kentucky, at a great distance from Danville. When the Harpes arrived in the Stockton Valley, in Clinton county, they murdered Tully, who was mentioned heretofore, and hid his body under a log. The reason or motive for his murder is now forgotten, as Tully, according to Col. Daniel Trabue's chronicle, seems to have had a prior acquaintance with the Harpes and their wives, and the motive for his murder probably was the knowledge, that he had of them. Tully resided in Stockton Valley, and thereafter, on the 18th day of December, 1800, the General Assembly passed an act for the relief of his wife, Christiana Tully. The act recited that her husband had been assassinated by the Harpes and it directed, that the time, which, she was allowed for the payment to the state of the price for two hundred acres of land, which her husband had contracted for previous to his death, be extended, without the payment of any interest, until December 1st, 1810. It is probable, that it was at this time, that the Harpes came into Russell county, as it adjoins Clinton county, and doubtless, to visit the brother-in-law of Big Harpe, who was still residing, in Russell county, three or four years afterwards. The body of Tully was discovered, within a day or two, and about the same time, Robert Brassel arrived in the

Stockton Valley, and bore with him the account of the murders, which had been committed by the Harpes, at Knoxville, and while on their way from there to the Stockton Valley. Nathan Stockton and William Woods, who were two hardy young men residing in the Stockton Valley, started immediately upon foot and walked about fifty miles, to the residence of Col. Daniel Trabue, in Adair county, to give him information of the fact, that the Harpes were again in the state. Col. Trabue immediately called together his neighbors for consultation and assistance. One man was dispatched early in the night to the city of Frankfort to carry information to the Governor of the state of the whereabouts of the Harpes, that he might make proclamation of the fact of their being again in the state. This man carried with him the affidavits of the two young men, Stockton and Woods, with regard to the murder of Tully, and the statement of Robert Brassel, which they laid before the Governor. On the executive journal, in the office of the Secretary of State, is to be found the following memorandum, which was made during the administration of Governor Garrard: "Wiley and Micajah Harpe, who were charged with the murder of Langford, having, with their three wives, broke out of the jail at Danville, the Governor authorized Josh Ballenger to pursue them into the state of Tennessee and other states, and to apply to the executive authorities of such states to deliver them up. He also issued a proclamation offering a reward to those who would apprehend these inveterate enemies of human happiness, and on the 7th day of June following he appointed Alexander McFarland and brother to take charge of them if they should be found in any adjacent state."

CONTROL SUGAR SALES.

Active control of sugar prices was resumed by the Government, through an agreement reached between the Department of Justice and the Food Administration that licenses will be revoked by the latter when it is shown dealers have been profiteering. Sugar should reach the consumer at approximately eleven cents a pound, it was announced based on the ownership of the entire domestic and Cuban crop by the United States Sugar Equalization Board, which is selling to refiners at 7.28 cents a pound. Refineries are under contract with the board to sell at 9 cents, 2 per cent discount for cash, wholesalers and jobbers are permitted a maximum of 68c for each 100 pounds for handling, and retailers are permitted a profit of one and one-half cents a pound, except in cases where dealers have purchased at an unreasonable price due to misunderstanding in the trade. When this is a fact, a reasonable advance above the actual cost will be permitted.

When the bowels feel uncomfortable and you miss the exhilarating feeling that always follows a copious morning operation, a dose of HERBINE will set you right in a couple of hours. If taken at bedtime you get its beneficial effect after breakfast next day. Sold by Paul Drug Co. Adv

Education in Kentucky.

All of the candidates for important office in Kentucky this year are manifesting a commendable interest in the improvement of public education in the State, but there is a lack of a definite program. And yet the things that should be done first are so plain that there should be no difficulty in naming them.

In attempting to discuss the educational needs of Kentucky the Evening Post finds it necessary to say the same things over and over again. We fear that we have little that is new to present. What we will now say, we have often said before. But as yet there has been no crystallization of public sentiment in the State. We must needs point out again and again the obvious defects of our existing system, even if we expose ourselves to the charge of repeating something that has been "one hundred times made plain."

At present in the State of Kentucky we have a State Superintendent of Instruction, who must be nominated at a direct primary and elected at a regular election for a term of four years, and he is made ineligible for re-election, although it is obvious that no man can learn the duties of the office in much less than that time. The salary attached is, we believe, $2,500 a year. The powers of the officer are very small, and his duties are largely statistical.

Again, when we come to county school superintendents, the law most unwisely provides that such officers must be elected by the people. And their authority is small. The result is that the State gets little from the Superintendent of State Instruction, and the counties get very little from the county superintendents.

Let every citizen of Louisville, where we are familiar with a good school system, think of what this means. Suppose we had a law providing that our superintendent of city school could only secure office by joining a political party and getting himself nominated and elected for a term of four years, with an additional proviso that a good man could not be re-elected no matter how excellent his work may have been. Is there any one who doubts that such regulations would very largely destroy our school system? And yet we are tamely submitting in Kentucky to a system that makes real improvement in the country schools almost impossible.

The things that should be done first do not, therefore, admit of argument. The first thing to be done is to submit an amendment to the State Constitution permitting the Governor to name some real expert in education State Superintendent at a good salary, with permanency of employment assured. The next thing is to give that officer some real authority. The third thing is to so arrange matters that the county superintendents shall be appointive officers, and shall have some authority in selecting the teachers for the country schools.

Until these things are done we need not expect lasting improvement in our county schools. And in order that we may know how great are our educational needs the Legislature must appropriate $25,000 for a survey of our schools.—Louisville Post.

JUNIORS PLAN TO BE BROTHERS AND SISTERS TO WORLD CHILDREN

LITTLE brothers and sisters to all the children of the world—that's what the school boys and girls of America are going to be called from now on. The Junior Membership department of the Red Cross has a plan which will gather them all into this relationship. Even the smaller kiddies will be included.

In central Europe 200,000 children are starving—75,000 are hungry and homeless in Petrograd alone. Sixty per cent of the membership fees are to be sent to National Headquarters for a National Children's Fund to relieve suffering throughout the world.

In America, in smaller numbers, there are children in need of help. These unfortunates are not to be forgotten while the orphans of France and Belgium are receiving aid. The remaining forty per cent of the Junior fees, as well as any additional money raised by the school children, is to be expended for community activities.

Under this head there are many classes. Crippled children are to be found in almost any town, and the Juniors will help them to buy crutches or artificial hands and legs. Little folks in need of hospital or medical care will have American Red Cross Juniors ready to foot the bills if the fathers aren't able to pay the expenses.

Junior auxiliaries will try to furnish diversion for the children who live in orphanages and for the shut-ins. The ideal of the organization is to establish international understanding and good will among all children; to provide motives for purposeful school activities, and to carry out ideals and habits of service.

NEW EDUCATIONAL IDEAS ANNOUNCED

WITH the opening of the school term this fall the Junior Red Cross will be concerned with two new phases of education.

The first is the internationalization of general education. The other is the providing of scholarships for children of disabled soldiers, sailors and marines who wish to attend schools of the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

The closer inter-relationship of nations, resulting from the war, is making necessary, among children everywhere an understanding of the social, industrial and commercial situations as they exist now and as they will be apt to develop.

The teacher who keeps in touch with Junior Red Cross activities will have, this fall, a monthly bulletin that will contain true stories of conditions and incidents over the world and will make her geography and history lessons as live and interesting as a motion picture. These bulletin stories and articles are specially prepared to give a basic understanding of the world as it is in the process of change today.

In order that fatherless boys and girls may have an education that will fit them for taking care of the family dependent upon them, the Juniors will try to provide a scholarship for the use of the orphans of men who have died in service.

An innovation in school courses this year is First Aid, which will be taught by physical directors and other teachers who have taken the course and have qualified as an instructor.

BE A MEMBER OF THE JUNIOR RED CROSS

ANY American school, whether it be public, private or parochial, may have a Junior Red Cross auxiliary.

Membership in the Junior Red Cross may be obtained by applying to the nearest Red Cross chapter. As soon as the school enrolls as an auxiliary, every boy and girl in that school becomes a member of the Junior Red Cross.

Membership fees depend upon the size of the school. The yearly fee for each school is one-fourth as many dollars as there are pupils in the school. The Junior membership auxiliary fee is a school fund, not a sum to be collected from individual pupils. Some auxiliaries raise their money by sales or school entertainments. Others have "sacrifice boxes" where candy money is contributed to the Red Cross fund.

The chapter school committee receives the money from the school. Sixty per cent is forwarded to National Headquarters for the National Children's Fund, and forty per cent retained for neighborhood relief work.

THE THREE PURPOSES OF THE JUNIOR RED CROSS.

To join American children in service for needy children at home and overseas.

To give American children a chance to learn the satisfaction of unselfish service.

To bring about understanding among children of all countries.

RELIEF MEASURES FOR COMING YEAR TOLD BY RED CROSS

FOLLOWING exhaustive reports from its various Commissions to European countries, the American Red Cross can define fairly well the foreign relief program for the ensuing year.

It is now clear that in the rehabilitation of nations and countries devastated by the war, the problem of vitality and the building up of man-power takes the first place in Red Cross activities. Further, it is evident that the feeding of foreign peoples, as well as general material relief is not a field which can be assumed by the Red Cross. There remains, however, the problem of sickness and disease, and particularly a diminished and weakened child population, which none of the countries of Eastern Europe is in a position to meet with its own resources, but where the American Red Cross is in a position to offer indispensable aid and service.

Recognizing these facts, the Red Cross effort in Europe during recent months has been concentrated more and more on establishing and extending through the countries of Eastern Europe, as well as Siberia, a constructive health service, looking not only toward relief in the immediate situation but also toward the establishment of permanent health service built on national foundations in each country concerned.

The medical and surgical supplies of all kinds made available for use by the Red Cross by a recent Act of Congress at once enable the Red Cross to plan this effort in medical relief on a broad, comprehensive and constructive scale. The $15,000,000 asked by the Red Cross in the Third Roll Call, November 2-11, will be devoted, therefore, largely to the administration of this program and making effective the distribution of materials derived from surplus Army supplies. The materials for general relief to be administered in addition to and in connection with the above will be obtained largely from supplies now in the possession of the Red Cross, or will be covered by small expenditure where purchase may prove necessary.

This program permits not only a definition in scope of the work to be carried on, but a limitation in time, presumably a period of one year. At the expiration of that time the work of the Red Cross abroad will have been largely rounded out, and activities concentrated on a program of service to Americans.

BABIES NEVER TASTED MILK

POLITICAL and economic troubles are not the only obstacles that face the new republic of Czechoslovakia. In attempting to build up a democracy, fashioned after that in the United States, one of its most serious problems is an alarming mortality rate, especially among women and children. Statistics of the American Red Cross show that in Bohemia, Moravia and Silesia deaths in 1917 exceeded births by over 20,000. Figures for 1918, not yet completed, will show a larger mortality.

"This whole condition," the Red Cross commission reports, "is due to under-nourishment of mothers and children. In its investigation the American Red Cross found that many children have never tasted milk—not even mother's milk, as the women were too weak to nurse their babies. Seven year old children have the physical proportion of five, and ten year olds have the growth of a normal seven year old."

The Red Cross has organized a system of soup kitchens throughout the country, through which it hopes to save the lives of thousands of mothers and children. The rumor of a sign with the American flag and the Red Cross over an old shack or a hastily constructed hut is enough to make women of these foreign countries walk miles for a ration of soup.

POLISH WOMEN CARRY OUT A. R. C. HEALTH PLANS

THE American Red Cross is now conducting operations in seventeen European countries. In Poland the government is taking over certain parts of the American Red Cross activities so that the Red Cross can move into new fields of relief work. The policy of the American Red Cross is to establish relief activities wherever great need exists, then to encourage local agencies to take over the established work and carry it on.

With a personnel of a hundred, the Red Cross has been making great inroads on the typhus epidemic and has enlisted the aid of 300 Polish personnel, mostly young women who have been taught the rudiments of American ideas of hygiene. After a few months, the Americans in many places were able to leave the work of sanitation to Polish units. The American Red Cross has supplied modern steam sterilizers, 30 mobile laundries, 50,000 flat irons, portable baths and many carloads of clothing, bedding, and hospital supplies.

The Young Old Boys.

There have been repeated statements made that the men of the Grand Army, grown old and weary, would step aside and let the younger veterans take over the patriotic work of their organization. That idea has been accepted by many as reasonable and quite probable. But no one who saw these hardy old veterans march through the streets of the city Wednesday got any impression from their appearance that they intended to step aside and let anyone else take charge. We make the prediction that the Grand Army of the Republic will hold numerous encampments in the future, continuing the work themselves for many years.

More and more must needs ride each year, the weight of years making the long walks impossible, but to consent to have that famous organization surrender to the burden of age is not in the hearts of the merry thousands who braved the rain and the heat Wednesday to complete the parade on schedule. One saw in the delegation from each state veterans showing by stooped shoulders, furrowed brows and whitened hair the story of the burden of their long lives, and yet in each delegation were those so filled with the fiery ardor of the old days, so enthused with the joy of reunion, of fellowship once more with old comrades that they capered, danced and pirouetted with the ardor if not the grace of youth.

Years may have brought burdens, but age has not taken their courage nor diminished the cheer that makes the heart throb with renewed life, when the old days are being lived over once more. Talk of permitting the Grand Army of the Republic to stop its encampments, to give up the fight, to cease its patriotic work? Never, while a hundred of the old boys remain to foregather and renew friendship.—Ohio State Journal.

The death list in the storm at Corpus Christi, Texas, is estimated to be between 300 and 500. The property loss, $15,000,000.

This office is now at work on the ballots for the November election. Every Democrat in the county should get busy, and not stop until he has cast one of the ballots with the X under the rooster.

If a Democrat is hesitating because he is opposed to the acts of some men while they were in office, he should consider that the man who displeased him is not the Democratic party. The principles of the Democratic party have not changed.

Ten thousand people attended the opening of the Democratic campaign at Hopkinsville last Saturday. The immense crowd was enthusiastic, and the campaign is now on in earnest. Gov. Black's speech was published in the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times.

The police force of the city of Boston struck. Immediately after they took action the Mayor of the city struck, and out went the entire force for good and always. A new set of men with more sense than the first lot are now doing the patrolling in that city, while the old set is powerless and can do nothing but cuss their luck. The Mayor is determined that a set of law breakers shall not longer disturb the peace of Boston.

Active work is now going on in Kentucky in an effort to cut down the high cost of living. It is high time, as many traffickers are engaged in robbing the consumers. Thousands of men have gotten rich by hoarding when everything was much cheaper than it is now, and at this time are charging four or five times more than their hoarded stuff cost them. They should be run down.

If there was ever a time when the Democrats of Adair county and also the entire State of Kentucky should be diligent it is now. The election is approaching and every voter who favors the election of Gov. Black over E. P. Morrow should be at the polls. Do not conclude that Black will be elected and remain at home on the day of election, every vote will be needed. It is the sanguine voter that often does more harm than good. Therefore, if you are a Democrat make up your mind to support the State ticket in the coming election.

Rejection of all proposed amendments to the German peace treaty and modification of the "strong" reservations, are urged in an individual minority report filed with the Senate by Senator McCumber, republican, of North Dakota, next in rank on the Foreign Relations Committee to Chairman Lodge. McCumber denounced most of the majority amendments as "selfish, dishonorable, and immoral," and charged they are seeking to "isolate the United States from the rest of the world and abandon our allies."

Farm for Sale.

On Tuesday, the 30th day of September, 1919, we will sell to the highest bidder, the farm known as the Jennie Smith farm, lying near Cane Valley, on the upper Greensburg road, containing 101 1/2 acres, more or less. On it is a good dwelling and all necessary outbuildings, very good orchard and splendid water. This farm is 3 1/2 miles from Columbia, and produces well. Will also sell one buggy and harness, seven stacks of hay, 13 head of cattle, all young except one milch cow. In the lot there are 9 2-year-old steers, 9 head of sheep, 2 horses, 1 mule, 3 years old. This sale will take place on the farm, and terms of sale will be made known on day of sale, which will commence at 10 a. m.

Editor The News,
Columbia, Ky.

It has been quite a while since I contributed to your news columns and while this may appear a matter of indifference on my part, I assure you that many things have contributed to my delay. I was called to Eastern Virginia the latter part of July to be with my Dear old Father in his last illness. I thank you for your short tribute of respect which appeared in your paper, and while not so well known in that community, yet no eulogy you could give would overpaint his real merits. A man of convictions, discreet, courage, he lived an upright and honorable life and died a peaceful and glorious death. I loved him as a true father and for his many noble traits of character that made and held a large circle of friends wherever he was known.

On my return home it was my pleasure to spend a couple of days in your city. I met many friends while there, but many I did not get to see. My time was too short, my visit incomplete. No one enjoys a friend more than I do, no one hates to part from them worse than myself, but it seems that the best of friends must part or at least it happens. On my arrival home I was at once at my post of duty and have had no idle time since. The season has sufficiently advanced to report what is in sight for our farmers in this part of the country. Cotton about one-half of a crop, corn, late planting, from the middle of June to the 10th of July, is splendid where it got sufficient work, but much of it was neglected by the needs of the hay fields. All in all it is much below the average year. Our first hay crop was harvested between showers, much of it damaged and some entirely lost, but the second and third cuttings have been handled under ideal conditions and the fourth now ready is as promising. The yields have been splendid and prices are good with no signs of a weak winter market. It may sound fishy to many of your readers, but its hay harvest here from first of May till November. I have never seen any country half the equal to this when it comes to filling barns with fine hay or where it produces so much in so short a time. Why any man will pass judgment on a country he has never seen or measure a state by the worst he has heard is founded in prejudice or ignorance or both is my opinion. So the horrors of this section as painted by the home knocker fails to appear to me. I find it a most pleasant place to live. We like the summer so far, and have not suffered from heat as much as in our old Kentucky home. The real estate market has been active at various times this summer and many farms have been sold. I can not see a single reason why this rich, level land, in an ideal part of the country, will stay at anything like present prices and I have not discovered a disadvantage that would render it almost delightful place for a home, or condition that would be annoying to anyone who would like to make a home here. In fact it looks better to me all the while and I have never regretted my removal as well as I like to be with my old friends of so many years gone by. It gives me pleasure to state that another good citizen and one of the very best farmers in Adair county, Mr. J. A. English, bought a splendid farm here a few days ago. He is a close observer, a man who knows land and appreciates location and markets, and I believe will prove the worth of good judgment and foresight to many of his friends before the year passes. He is welcomed to our section by the many enterprising men who are here from Old Kentucky.

I do not feel like closing this letter without expression of approval to my old associates who are still pushing the work on the road I love and left, namely, Burton Rridge. My friend, G. M. Stevenson, took me over it while I was there. To see as many teams and men on the job as was out at work that day and the splendid road they were building made me feel more than good; I stated to those on the work "I began it you must finish it, I left it you are to enjoy it." It was my ambition to get that road through to the Casey county line and then on to Glasgow. Its worth doing and cheap at what it may cost. I suggested to some of my friends, while there, that your representative, Mr. T. R. Stults, and your senator, Mr. James Garnett, unite when they "get there" and do some legislation in the interest of road building. I suggested they secure the passage of a law permitting the magisterial districts of the counties to build their roads without or with the approval of other districts. In short make the district the unit of action instead of the county. This can be done and not interfere with the spirit and operation of the present road law. If a district wants good roads it should have the power to build them, if willing to pay for same and the ones that do not want them need not worry. I hold to the belief that no section should deprive or prevent another from advancement. The legislation I suggested is in operation in many of the states and giving good results. This is a suggestion worth considering and a departure that will put the progressive districts where they are entitled and not at the expense of others that do not want improvement.

With best of wishes to The News and to my many friends, I close.

FINE FARM AT AUCTION.

To settle the estate of the late W. W. McElroy, we will sell on the premises to the highest bidder, on TUESDAY, OCTOBER 7th, AT 10 A. M.

WOOD HILL STOCK FARM Containing About 375 Acres of Rich Land

This farm is generally conceded to be one of the finest and best in Marion county and the equal of the very best in this part of Kentucky. It has been in the McElroy family for perhaps a hundred years and is now offered for sale for the first time. It has been used for a generation as a stock farm and is noted as the home of Governor Wood Jacks. Except for some 10 or 12 acres in tobacco, 30 acres in corn and a few acres in other crops, the whole place is, and has been for

50 Years in Blue Grass

On the farm is a splendid two-story frame, metal roof dwelling and many outbuildings, including a large tobacco and several stock barns. All of the buildings are in good condition, and the whole farm is under good fence. There is an abundance of water; in fact, it is one of the best watered farms in the county, there being several large ponds in addition to other never failing sources of supply.

Wood Hill Stock Farm is situated on Barbour's Mill turnpike about 5 miles from Lebanon and 3 miles from Springfield. The neighborhood is unexcelled and its closeness to both Lebanon and Springfield makes it convenient to both markets.

The Farm Will be Offered in Two Tracts and then as a Whole

Tract No. 1, on which are the Improvements,

Contains about 225 acres.

Tract No. 2, on which are a tenant house and barn,

Contains about 150 acres.

This sale offers an exceptional opportunity to buy one of the most desirable farms in this part of the State, whether for stock raising, crops or renting. If purchased as a whole it can be nicely divided into several smaller farms should the purchaser so desire. Possession will be given January 1, 1920, but seeding privileges will be allowed this fall. Anyone wishing to see the place or desiring any further information concerning it is invited to call on H. J. Parrott, on the farm, or either of the undersigned.

Personal Property.

At the same time and place we will also sell between 30 and 40 head of Shropshire ewes, several good milk cows and calves, 5 good fat steers, about 15 head of nice heifers, 1 registered Aberdeen Angus cow, 1 registered Aberdeen Angus heifer, 1 six-year-old mare, 1 yearling horse mule, 1 jennet and colt, 1 jennet, and a large quantity of farming implements of all kinds including 1 wheat drill, seed sower and mowing machine, all as good as new, and a 4 horse power gasoline engine and cutting box with feed carrier.

TERMS:—On real estate, one third down, balance to suit the purchaser. On personal property, sums $25.00 and under, cash; over that amount six months note with interest from date, with approved security.

SAYS NEIGHBORS GIVEN SURPRISE BY THE CHANGE.

Couldn't Understand Remarkable Improvement Trutona Wrought Woman Avers.

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 23.—"My neighbors who know the condition I was in, before I began taking Trutona, are surprised to see me working again," Mrs. Fannie Grundy, well-known Owensboro woman of 616 Trip let street, said recently. "I'm certainly grateful for this new tonic, for it has given me more relief than any other medicine I've ever taken—and I've tried most all of them," she added.

"I had been troubled with ulceration of the stomach for the past 20 years. My bowels were in very bad condition. I would be severely constipated for three or four days at a time and then, when I'd take some harsh laxative I'd have a hard time to check the bowel action. Naturally I became very weak."

"I had been bedfast for six weeks before I began taking Trutona. You can imagine my surprise, when, at the end of the first weeks' treatment I was able to get out of bed and began to do my housework again. I'm eating food now that I haven't dared to touch in the past two years. Why, I can even eat corn bread now and that is one food that used to make me very sick. I have never before given a testimonial for any medicine, but I feel that the public should know of the wonderful relief I've gained from a one-dollar bottle of Trutona."

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Columbia at Paul Drug Co.

Wedded On A Stump.

It was in Mariposa county, California, a locality noted for trees of enormous growth. The top of a redwood stump, smooth and level as the woodmen's saw had left it, and over twenty feet in diameter, was the place chosen for this wedding ceremony. Decorated with the wonderful wild flowers of the region and surrounded by giant trees, no place chosen could be more beautiful or impressive.

The bride and bridegroom, the minister and fifty guests, ascended a few flights of steps about six feet to the top of the stump and found seats provided and ample room for all.

After the ceremony seats were removed and dancing took place, the musicians occupying a place on the stump as well as the dancers.

Kentucky State Memorial.

In the European war, 2,726 Kentuckians, both men and women, gave their lives in the various pursuits of that tragic enterprise that humanity might be free; that autocracy might not again menace the race and the world might be a better place in which to live.

The record of Kentucky's part in that momentous struggle adds a new and luminous page to the history not only of the Commonwealth but of the nation—a page in which the story of her price-less sacrifice, the courage of her immortal sons, the patriotism of her daughters, will be a source of inspiration and pride throughout all the years to come. Of that magnificent army of men who turned their faces, when duty called, toward the battle fronts of Europe, that twenty-seven hundred did not return, is inspiring testimony to their historic valor in defense of the flag and the principles of free government for which their forefathers fought; in additional proof, indeed, than in the Anglo-Saxon veins of Kentucky's sons and daughters still courses the blood of a stock that holds life cheap when slavery is the price of cowardice and dishonor.

LEAVE HERITAGE OF

IMMORTAL GLORY.

On Flanders fields, in the Forest of the Argonne, at Chateau Thierry, in Belleau Wood, some of these are sleeping in ground that shall be forever holy to Kentucky. Nothing can rob her of the heritage of their deeds. Neither time nor change can dim the records of the lowliest of these who freely offered and as freely gave up life for humanity, for freedom, for peace, for prosperity, for the happiness and lasting well-being of their fellows.

Our government has lost no opportunity to give them Christian burial when such was possible; to keep records of their deeds; to mark the spots where they fell and where they rest. But Kentucky now proposes to be one of several states of the Union to give enduring vitality to her testimonial of pride in the courage of her fallen by establishing a new covenant of faith with her dead sons and daughters that shall memorialize them in enduring form and to useful purpose.

NAMES OF DEAD TO BE

INCRIBED ON TABLETS.

To this end it is proposed therefore to erect upon the grounds of the University of Kentucky, a Memorial Building, of dimensions sufficiently ample to house in comfort all the student activities of the institution and to establish in the rotunda, tablets bearing the names of the entire list of her soldiers who made the supreme sacrifice, in the abiding hope that it shall be a source of inspiration and helpfulness to the generations of young Kentuckians who shall, from year to year, seek education and leadership at the University, and to become at once a shrine at which men and women of the State henceforth shall bow in reverence and homage.

FUNDS TO BE RAISED BY POPULAR SUBSCRIPTION.

It is proposed to supply the funds for the erection of the building by popular subscription giving to every citizen of Kentucky opportunity to contribute and to every section of the State joint ownership in its establishment. In the broadest sense, therefore, it is proposed to make this building a memorial of those Kentuckians living now, to those Kentuckians who are to come after them, the gift of this generation to all succeeding generations of the State.

At the time of the preparation of this pamphlet only rough draughts of the plans of the proposed building were available, but it is the intention of its promoters that the building shall provide an auditorium large enough to seat large gatherings of students and the public who shall desire to attend lectures, chapel services, commencement exercises and enterprises intended to enhance the welfare of the young students of the State's chief institution of learning. It will contain, also, rooms for literary societies, debating clubs, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. organizations, reading rooms, rooms for games and amusements during the leisure hours of the student body, and place at their disposal a building in which these manifold activities may proceed in comfortable and wholesome surroundings.

ESTIMATED COST OF BUILDING $300,000.

It is estimated that the building will cost three hundred thousand dollars for construction and equipment. The site tentatively chosen is a plot of ground on the University campus in the south eastern angle made by the intersection of Limestone and Winslow streets; and the structure is to be modern in every particular. To carry forward the work of procuring funds for the memorial a general committee of fifty men and women has been chosen from all sections of the State with Edward W. Hines, former head of the State Council of Defense, as chairman; an executive committee of eleven men, with C. N. Manning, president of the Security Trust Company of Lexington, as chairman and Professor W. E. Freeman of the University faculty as general manager of the campaign, has been formed.—Bulletin of the University of Kentucky.

Ed Morrow's Chestnuts.

In opening his campaign for Governor Col. Ed Morrow devoted a good deal of his time in discussing old Republican chestnuts. He declared that if elected he would abolish a lot of useless offices. We have heard a good many candidates for Governor promise this, but we have never seen any of the offices abolished. Bradley promised it, yet when he was elected he found a Republican to fill every office at the disposal of the Administration. Gus Wilson was very positive that the people of the State should elect him in order to get rid of a lot of them. Not a single office was abolished, and the people can expect nothing better of Morrow than Bradley or Wilson.

The candidate from Somerset also talks about the wasteful extravagance of the Democratic party. So did Bradley and Wilson, but instead of decreasing the expenses of the State they both increased them.

Ed Morrow can talk until he is Twenty high school teachers from Charlotte, N. C., attended the summer school at Columbia University' and, when they returned for the fall term, the first act of the Charlotte Board of Education was to present them with checks to cover their expenses. And this is a good thing for other boards of education to consider. It is admitted, we believe, that the ambitious teacher gains a great deal by taking a summer course every now and then in a big university, and the local school authorities could not do better than agree to pay for a number every summer.—Louisville Post.

It appears that the New York Federation of Labor will not support the committee from its own membership that advised a six month's truce in contests between capital and labor. This is to be regretted. That committee spoke the words of sober, common sense. And we need not only a truce but a peace. This country will neither be prosperous nor happy so long as industrial strife flourishes.—Louisville Post.

ASSERTS LIQUOR IS BEING SOLD NOW.

J. Sherman Porter, Publicity Man for State-Wide Prohibition Federation, says such reports have been made to Collector and District Attorney.

"I would like to impress the fact that the State-Wide Prohibition Federation is engaged in no anti-tobacco movement," said J. Sherman Porter, publicity man for the federation this morning.

Our entire energies are being devoted to the adoption of the State Prohibition Amendment, regardless of the National Amendment. The State Amendment is submitted this fall and on a separate ballot, we ask the voters to remember that and to request the officers of the election to give them that ballot.

"After the State Amendment is adopted, the Federation is very likely to assist in the matter of obtaining law-enforcement legislation at Frankfort.

"We have information that saloons of Louisville, Lexington Newport and Covington still are selling booze and drunken men have been seen the past two weeks in all these cities.

"Both Collector Elwood Hamilton, of the revenue office at Louisville, and District Attorney Thomas D. Slattery, of Maysville, have had these reports, I do not know how true they are, but the police of all these cities know whether booze is being sold or not and can stop it instantly if they want to. They can not escape responsibility on the ground that no law enforcement legislation has been passed. The selling of liquor without a license violates the ordinances of all these towns and cities and the public, liberal as well as dry, will uphold the heads of the police departments in enforcing law, and it ought to be done vigorously.

Reckless Speech.

The New York World makes this accurate summary of the debates upon the peace treaty in the United States Senate:

Day after day in the Senate the Allies with whom the United States was associated in a victorious war are attacked as scheming scoundrels and conspiring enemies, who are plotting to destroy the independence and sovereignty of this nation. Amendments are proposed to the treaty which, if adopted, could only sow the seeds of war between the United States and governments which a year ago the United States was fighting with all its strength to save.

This is in no way an overstatement. For the last thirty days Senator Borah has been attacking England, Senator Knox has been attacking France, Senator Johnson has been attacking Japan, and Senator Lodge has been attacking England, France and Japan in a fashion that would have been thought unwise as directed against Germany while the war was in full swing. And the most striking feature in the diatribes of these Republican Senators is their irresponsibility. We all know that "the man on the street" in America clings to his unalienable right of saying what he thinks at all times, even if he does not always stop to think if what he says is really what he thinks. But it is another thing when a Senator of the United States gets up on the floor of the Senate and deliberately assails as scoundrels and plotters those great and proud nations with whom we have so recently been allied, and proposes amendments to a peace treaty that, if they mean anything, mean that their advocates favor a war with a nation which still considers us its ally.—Louisville Post.

Many girls fail to get very far in this world because they lack a good foundation. This is, in a word, general education. Now a general education doesn't mean a college education, not by any means. A college education is indeed a fine thing but if you can't have one the next best thing is to educate yourself. Keep posted on current events; form your own idea of things. Read editorials and good magazines and good books. Don't sit around and wish you were a man so you could do great things. Through reading and study make your service of value to someone and great things will come to you too.

The Unfortunate Class.

With all the misfortunes of wage-earners, in a period when prices outstrip wages, it is quite possible that they are better off than the salary-workers whom they used to envy. The woes of the American "middle-class" are feelingly set forth in the Manufacturers' Record.

"There are millions of teachers, and preachers and clerks, and others of moderate fixed income whose salaries or whose income from investments have not increased in proportion to the cost of living. They are the ones who are suffering most, but they are the ones who are doing the least kicking and complaining. They are not going on strikes; they are not threatening to overturn the government; they are doing the best they can, often pinching to the extreme in order to make ends come together. These are the people for whom there should be the greatest sympathy and for whose welfare the greatest effort should be made. They are the uncomplaining sufferers, they are the men and women who are working faithfully and honestly in every avenue of employment from that of the preacher of the Gospel to that of the teacher of the young, the bookkeepers, and the clerks, and others who are not united in labor organizations and are not trying to bulldoze either their employers or the nation."

A rather typical representative of this class, a clerk making $30 a week, remarks that such "between folks" as he are being "crushed between the upper and nether millstones" of capitalistic profits and wage demands of labor, for the benefit of both.

Notice, To Tax Payers

I have the books in my possession, your taxes are now due, so please call and settle. The sooner you pay, the better it is for all concerned. It only takes one time, so please settle without delay.

BIG AUCTION SALE OF FINE TAYLOR COUNTY LAND

IN THE
FAMOUS BEECH WOODS SECTION
Friday, October 3rd, 10 O'clock, a. m.

R. B. Cowherd Home—125 acres, $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles West of Campbellsville, on splendid pike, the most elegant country home in Taylor county. Ten rooms finished in hardwood, cabinet mantels, fine cellar, cistern, and large, never failing spring in yard. Stock scales, bank barn, feed barn, crib, good tenant house, grainery, servants house, a better and prettier blue grass farm is seldom found around Lexington.

Well fenced, and nearly all in grass. 84 acres adjoining the above, level, productive, well watered, well timbered, well fenced, good road on two sides. A great tenant proposition.

R. W. Buckner Home—77 acres opposite the R. D. Buckner farm, elegant new 6-room bungalow, finished in hardwood, large, new barn, tool house, and outbuildings, extra well fenced, well watered, finest cistern in the country.

Everybody knows the "BEECH WOODS," the most fertile section of this part of Kentucky. But few farms in the Beech Woods have ever been on the market. This sale is a great opportunity. Get ready to take advantage of it. All these farms are in the Friendship and Earley's Chapel neighborhood. Known far and wide for its splendid citizenship and hospitality. Excellent schools and churches at your door, in easy reach of Campbellsville, the best school town in Central Kentucky. The soil is limestone, suited for the growth of corn, Burley tobacco and Blue Grass.

Terms: One third cash, and the balance in one and two years with 6 per cent interest.

We have arranged with Mr. Bert L. Simms, of the Union Central Life Insurance Co., associated with Kerr & Kerr, to be on the ground and talk five, ten and twenty year farm loans with you.

The order of sales will be as follows: Oct. 3rd, first the Cowherd's home, next Massie, and then the Buckners.

Oct. 4th, Eastes home, six miles North of Campbellsville, and then the Shreve home.

R. D. Buckner Home—160 acres on Friendship pike, $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles West of Campbellsville—Splendid 8-room house, 2 barns, grainery, crib, 5-room tenant house, dairy, 2 chicken houses, meat house, garage, coal and wood house, never failing water, orchard, well fenced.

Horace Massie Home—160 acres, on Friendship pike, 5 miles from Campbellsville, comfortable 7-room brick residence, 2 extra good feed and tobacco barns, 1 tenant house, garage, crib, grainery, 2 dandy never failing springs, well at door, good fencing, and a very desirable home. 88 acres of fertile limestone land adjoining above tract, good tenant house, well fenced well watered and an ideal stock farm.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 4th, AT 10, A. M.

T. J. Easter Farm—131 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres, located 6 miles from Campbellsville, one mile North of the Lebanon turn pike, near Pitman creek, and within one half mile of the proposed "Dixie Highway," good 7 room dwelling with cellar, 2 large barns, large grainery, and other necessary outbuildings. 20 acres of farm is in fine timber, containing much valuable oak, poplar, chestnut and beech. This is sub-divided into many fields with good fences, all accessible to water. This farm is in a high state of cultivation, and is beyond question, one of the best farms in Taylor County.

The R. S. Shreve Home—75 acres 5 miles North of Campbellsville, on the Lebanon turn pike. Splendid 7 room house in beautiful lawn overlooking the turn pike, good barn and other outbuildings, 8 acres of good creek bottom, 10 acres of fine, level new ground, no better in Kentucky, 25 acres of woodland all of which is first class tobacco land, abundance of water for all purposes, good orchard, good fencing, and an ideal country home. R. S. Shreve—40 acres across the pike from the 75 acre tract, good strong land, well watered and under good fence.

The safest and best investment on earth is IN the EARTH. Farm land is increasing in value everywhere. Invest in one of these farms. IT WILL MAKE YOU MONEY.

Do you know of a man who has lost money in farm lands? Do you not know of many who have made big money buying farm lands? ATTEND THESE SALES. For further information, call on KERR & KERR, Campbellsville, Ky., who will gladly show you these farms.
